

Furniture Moving Tip

Hey guys, Matt here, before moving on to lighting and the rest of the decorative project, I suggest you set up your room in the arrangement you just created on paper and live with it for a while to be sure it is working for you.

If it isn't working, go back to the drawing board and try a new furniture arrangement before you go out and purchase those new pieces. In a new arrangement, you might need something different!

By the way, here's the best way to move all those heavy furniture pieces. If you have a hard surface floor like tile or wood, use these furniture glides with a soft cover on the outside.

If you are moving furniture on top of carpet, as in this family room, you need just the plastic glides.

Basically in my mind these are the best things that ever could have happened to the decorating world.....and my back agrees!!!
